Events and Classes:

Baby Lap Sit at the new time, 11 a.m., still is not working. Changes are in the works for May. Susan MacDonald was busy at the school for Literary Lunch week and Lego Building Days. Candace Yost began the next session of ASK (After School Kids) at the school for grades 5 and up. Both outreach programs, Lego Building Days and ASK, continue into April. The monthly Lego Building Day and the St. Patrick's craft week went well. Students in grades 5 and up enjoyed Black & White Day here at the library. Activities included a Zentangle-inspired art project and black & white snacks.

The weather cooperated for the Irish Music Night. The ground was just soggy at the top of the exterior stairs to the basement which were used to move the instruments in and out of the building. Twenty-four people enjoyed the Irish music. Only a small group attended the NHHHC program hosted by the Friends yet it was a good discussion on personal privacy in cyberspace. Continuing adult programs, the monthly book discussion, Classic Movie Night, Cribbage Nights, and the Friday Morning group, met as normally scheduled and attendance remains good.

April special events include a NHHHC program entitled "Spies in Time," a Poetry Night and a week of refreshments hosted by the Friends during National Library Week. Also the library is co-sponsoring a lecture through the Seacoast Area Libraries. The lecture presented by Anthony Amore is at the Lane Memorial Library in Hampton at 7pm on Thursday, April 16th. Mr. Amore, the chief investigator of the Isabella Stewart Gardner

Museum heist, will talk about art heists and sell his books. This event is during National Library Week and everyone is invited.

April events for children and tween/teens, include crafts days, a Lego Building Day, an early release afternoon movie, a movie during spring recess, and a green teen craft project at the library.

Meetings, Workshops, and Events:

3/5 Eye on Healthcare Reform presented by HealthTrust: Denise Grimse – Attended this free evening session at the Sheraton Hotel in Portsmouth. HealthTrust representatives explained the latest developments and action steps to ensure compliance for NH public sector employers. They also reviewed the current structure of the “Cadillac Tax” and how consumers can lower healthcare costs.

3/9 Friends Meeting: Denise Grimse, Trustee Marcia McLaughlin, and Alternate Trustee Mark Willis – The group met to discuss signs at the polls and flyers at the transfer station, a few plant sale issues, and NHHHC programming details.

3/11 Public Records: Conquer Them Before They Conquer You: Denise Grimse – Attended this NHMA Webinar where New Hampshire Municipal Association legal staff discussed issues related to records under the Right-to-Know Law. Slides from the presentation are available for review as needed.

3/13 GSF Meeting: Susan MacDonald – The group met to review the books that members are reading for the 2015-16 list. The list will be finalized at the April meeting.

3/26 YALS Meeting: Candace Yost – The group met at the Local Government Center in Concord to discuss the final details for the YALS conference in May. They also reviewed Flume award nominees and the voting process, along with new books and summer reading program ideas.

3/27 SAL Meeting: Denise Grimse – Met with other Seacoast Area Library Directors at the Kingston Community Library. Ricky Sirois (Griffin Free Public Library) and Heather Rainier (Hooksett Public Library) presented the concept and goals for the NHLA Paralibrarian Certification as well as the steps needed to start the certification process. Details for the Anthony Amore lecture in Hampton on April 16th were finalized. This is the inaugural SAL public event. In other discussion, procedures for Walk-in ILL's for SAL patrons were reviewed, the November meeting location was changed, and SAL banking was reviewed.

Collection Updates:

New Downloadable Content through the NH Downloadable Books Consortium:

Digital magazines are now available for patrons through OverDrive. The Nook app and a Barnes & Noble account are required to download and view a magazine. The Nook app for the Kindle Fire can be downloaded through a third party site, but at the owner's own risk. Currently our 2015 annual downloadable fee is covering the cost of the new titles and the platform fee. A list of the available magazines and an instruction brochure are available in the library and online instructions are available on the Downloadable site.

Storage:

Many adult audiobooks have been moved to “storage” due to a lack of shelf space. Many others have already been deleted from the collection. Currently “storage” is boxes stacked and labeled on the bench across from the Large Print collection. Other items may be moved to “storage” as needed. A green bin under the recycling container already houses the adult Christmas collection of books, music, and DVDs during the off season. Lack of space continues to be a problem.

Denise Grimse, Director
